Advertising writers may well profit by the terse, dignified and at the same time convincing arguments with which the Waitham product has been exploited. It is conspicuously noticeable that all exaggerated statements, more often than not appearing in the average advertisement, diminishing rather than enhancing their value, are absent. Particular attention is called to the advertisement appearing in the papers last Sundsy in which the Waitham Orient De Luxe car was shown in a pictorial representation to be the "car for all seasons." In a four panel effect, the pictures blending artistically, the Waitham Orient De Luxe 20 h. p. touring car was shown in spring, summer, fail and winter, each season having its appropriate setting and winter embracing a scene with the Little Church Around the Corner, to which the couple that prominently figured in each scene were being speeded in a Waitham Orient De Luxe.

NEW YORK (A. L.), 2: DETROIT, 1-FIRST GAME.

New York (A. L.). 2: DETROIT, 1—FIRST GAME.
The New York Americans beat the Detroits in the first game of a double header yesterday and made the gamest sort of an effort to pull out the second, which went ten innings and was barren of scoring until the extra round. Chesbro and Donovan, Powell and Mullen, the respective pitchers of the two games, had the whip hand of the batters pretty much all the time, the dark day making speed very hard to hit. All four boxmen pitched well. Both games were close. There was occasional loose and slow fielding, but oftener there was fast fielding, the battle arrays generally holding together tightly when runs were threatened. There was not much yielding to the hammering tactics of the two teams, and ding-dong battles were the order. The usual large crowd was on hand, and it welld have been larger but for a somber sky that was on the verge of weeping all the time and which did turn on the wighterworks before the second game was over.

was on the verge of weeping all the time and which did turn on the waterworks before the second game was over.

There was considerable high class outfield work, and all of the outer sentries took a hand in this. Coughlin, O'Leary, Yeager, Elberfeld and Williams made peppery infield plays, but there was not always uniformity in the infield performing. Now and then came a slow or bungling play. Joe Yeager, who made both of New York's runs in the first game, reached first base in the second inning on Lindsay's muff of Coughlin's assist. It was an off game for first basemen, Chase having two muffs. Fultz sacrificed Yeager to second! McGuire filed to Crawford and O'Leary fumbled Chesbro's hard slam, Yeager going to third. On Chesbro's steal of second Drill made a bluff to throw down, but instead rolled the ball to the pitcher. Yeager was fooled good and plenty and would have been caught between the bases if Donovan had not made a ridiculously wild throw to Drill, allowing Yeager to score. Yeager had his horseshoe with him again in the fourth. He raised a fly to center, which Cooley the Thespian lost in the sun, Yeager pranced to third on the sun hit, and Fultz scored him with a clean hit to right. Sam Crawford's single; O'Leary's sacrifice, Chase's muff after Williams had made a heautiful pickup and throw and Bill Donovan's slick bunt gave the Detroits a run in the seventh inning. They did not get a man to first after that.

Jack Warner was receiver in general for the Detroits in the second the seventh liming. They did not get a man to first after that.

Jack Warner was receiver in general for the Detroits in the second game, and McGraw's former backstop was cheered warmly when he donned the mask. Both Powell and Mellen sped the ball through on the jump in this game. It was like pulling teeth to get men on bases, and like pulling more teeth to get one around. Any kind of hitting behind Powell would have won for him before the game reached the tenth inning stage. There was really no time when a run was imminent until the tenth inning. Powell and Williams had terrific drives pulled down by McLatyre and Cooley respectively, and Willie Keeler robbed Cooley of a hit by a fine catch of the latter's low liner. Joe Yeager squelched Mullen in the second session by a swift play on the pitcher's bunt, and Chase's catch of a foul off Mullen in the seventh was some pumpkins.

on the pitcher's bunt, and Chase's catch of a foul off Mullen in the seventh was some pumpkins.

Stupid work on the bases spoiled a chance for the New Yorks in the ninth. With one out Williams sauntered. Chase grounded to O'Leary, who tried for a double play by touching second and then throwing to first. But he did not touch second, and Williams was safe there, though Chase was out at first. Williams thought he had been called out and stepped off the bag to argue with Connolly. Griffith tried to shoo him back, but before he could get back Mullen tossed the ball to Dumpling Schaefer, and this time Williams was out sure enough. It was simply flying in the face of opportunity.

Angular Bill Coughlin opened the tenth inning with a triple, which Fultz made a hard try for. He came in on Lindsay's single. Warner forced Lindsay and would have been doubled up with quicker handling of the ball. The want of quick handling was costly. Then Warner, slow runner though he is, stole second, Kleinow making a high throw. Cooley's hit scored Warner. Fultz singled for New York in the tenth with one out. Kleinow was harmless, but Orth spanked a screamer to right which scored Fultz. Orth took a desperate chance and was thrown out at the plate. Crawford to Schaefer to Warner. As It turned out, he should have been held at third but desperate cases require desperate CIMCIBNATI, Aug. 12.—Inability to hit Walker caused the shusout of the Bostons here to day. In the third inning Walker hit cleanly to right, and Dolan, playing in close, ecooped the ball in time to throw the runner out. It was a scene to call up varied emotions.

There they were—the defenders of the great masses of the city, clubbing the ball to all corners of the field, despite protesting cries. and then deliberately stealing bases. It was small wonder that the onlookers, especially those who favored the mail, cried "For shame!" at the guardians of the peace. The game was somewhat disturbed toward its close by patterings of rain, but that did not make the ball any less easy for the Post Office players to handle. They muffed it quite as well as when the ground was dry. Totals 0 5 24 15 2 Totals 2 6 27 20 2

HORSESHOE HARBOR REGATTA Hazen Morse Cleverly Sails the Raceabout Rasoal II. to Victory. The annual regatta of the Horseshoe Har-bor Yacht Club brought together thirty-six yachts yesterday. All except the smallest boats sailed twice round a five mile triangular course. A fresh westerly breeze gave them a good start, and though it fell flat at the end of the first round, revived in time to give them a fine finish.

The raceabouts furnished the largest class as well as the largest yachts in the race and also the most interesting contest. S. C. Hopkins's Rascal II., ably handled by Haser Morse, carried off the honors after a hard struggle with Macy Willette's Cricket, which struggle with Macy Willette's Cricket, which secured second place. Eight raceabouts started at 1:15, with only a few seconds difference between the first boat and the last. They went off on a beat to Huckleberry Island, whence they had a broad reach with booms to port to Execution Rock and a run

At the end of the first round Rascal II.
and Cricket had secured a long lead on their competitors. The former was slightly in advance as they neared the turn, but she steered a little wide of the mark. Cricket slipped in between and went to the front.
For a time she had considerable advantage, but Morse managed to recover the lead before the end of the second round and finish a winner by 50 seconds.

Another Rascal sailed a good race and won in the 22 to 27 foot class. This boat, which is owned by J. J. Dwyer, rated last year as a raceabout, but was put out of that class this year by the new rule of measurement. Four Larchmont 21 footers also as alled a pretty race, which was won by J. H.
Exer's Houri, with W. Stump's Vaquero second. The other winners were R. N.
Bavier's Ace, R. Mallory's Kenoshi, Charles elsoop Quinsigamond, 'Charles Sutton's cat Vava, while C. C. Converse's cat Joke had a Akren Giant the Winner in Eighteen Rounds at Colma, Cal. packed house at the Colma A. C., Colma, Cal. on Friday night, Gus Ruhlin, the Akron Glant, demonstrated that he is far from being a back number. Ruhlin met Jim McCormick of Texas and whipped him in the eighteenth round. There was no knockout blow. McCormick's strength had been spent and after going to the floor from a shove and after going to the floor from a shove he falled to get up before the necessary ten seconds had been counted. He made a game showing throughout. Although the mill dragged at times, the fight was much enjoyed by the crowd. Ruhlin ruled a 2 to 1 favorite, but little money was wagered on the outcome. The issue was in doubt a number of times, but Ruhlin won because he was the stronger at the finish. The men mixed it up continu ally. Not very much science was displayed the only aim of the men being to get hom a punch that would do the trick in decisive fashion. The pace was fast and the punches usided on tender spots. Ruhlin was dazed several times, so was McCormick, but being in the best possible condition the men recuperated after each round.

McCormick used fine judgment all through the contest. None of his blows were wasted and he displayed excellent punching powers. However, Ruhlin landed just where the blows would hurt the most. He simply were his man down and won, But before the end came McCormick was in a fine position to turn the tables had Ruhlin made the slightest mistake in any of his rushes or counters.

Billy Madden was in Ruhlin's corner and coached his protégé admirably. At times Gus was inclined to be a trifie wild, but Madden steadled him with reassuring words. John L. Sullyan was behind McCormick and made a capital second. Sullivan seemed to take his man's defeat much to heart, but the big fellow was assured by a lot of sports that McCormick had done his best and that he would undoubtedly be heard from later.

It was the blows to the body that helped Ruhlin to win. The Akron Giant invariably sent the right to the ribs and the left to the wind. Once in a while he went for the jaw but was unable to reach McCormick with any degree of accuracy because McCormick dodged quickly. McCormick used fine judgment all through most evenly matched, and it was only the superior team work and steadiness of the winners that carried them through to victory. Alexander and Hackett were always just a triffe ahead of their opponents, and while the courts were watersoaked and slippery from the downpour of rain this afternoon, the two teams gave a splendid exhibition of tennis.

Alexander did some great placing. At the start he was a triffe off his game, but he quickly steadied down, and with well directed shots scored point after point. There were some magnificent rallies. Wrenn and Fincke directed their attack upon Hackett throughout the match, but the latter met them with great steadiness. Fincke was the weak player of his team, and the winners gained many points through his nets and outs. Thirteen of the thirty-four games went to deuce. In points Alexander and Hackett scored 34 to 30 for their opponents in the first set, 38 to 33 in the second and 60 to 48 in the third. Alexander and Hackett will meet the Western doubles champions at Newport later in the month.

That veteran tennis player Clarence Hobart got into the finals of the singles tournament by defeating E. W. Leonard three straight sets in the semi-final round the scores being 7-5, 6-4, 8-6. Hobart will meet R. D. Little in the final round on Monday morning, and the winner of this match will meet W. A. Larned, holder of the Longwood title, in the afternoon.

Little got into the final round through the default of Alexander, who did not feel able to play in both the singles and doubles to-day. The Hobart-Leonard match was a close one, the veteran playing better tennis. The handicap singles—Semi-final round—R. D. Little defeated F. B. Alexander, by default; Clarence Hobart defeated E. W. Harold E. Green, captain of the football team to-day gave his opinion as to the outlook for the Rutgers College team this fall. He said:

"The schedule above gives us five games at home and five away. As for prospects, I am particularly pleased with the outlook, for we have, I believe, the best material we have had for some time and with Oliver D. Mann, as coach, again to train and help us we are sure of a winning team. The spirit among the fellows is high and they are eager and willing for the fray."

There is a double incentive for owners of fast racing cars at Cape May in the form of two splendid trophies offered by the Cape May Automobile Club—the Cape May mile oup and the Cape May kilometer cup, which go to the gasoline cars making the best time for these distances during 1905. The mile trophy is valued at $1,000, and the kilometer prize at $500.

Another racer which will make its first essay at straight-away speeding will be the 24 horse-power Fiat. Jr., which made a new lightweight mile record of 55 4-5 seconds on July 4 last at Morris Park.

This meet will be the last of the season at Cape may, and in addition to the record trials there will be free for all contests at both the mile and kilometer and many contests for touring cars to be driven by owners. In order to expedite the running of the events the competing cars will run off the beach at the end of the course and return to the starting point via the boulevard.

NOTES OF THE TRADE.

What's Going On in Automobile Circles Arrangements have just been completed where-by Chevrolet is to try for the mile and the kilometer ecords at Cape May on Aug. 25 and 26. He is to drive the 120 horse-power Flat racing car, which finished second in the recent Bennett race, and also the Flat, Jr., which holds the mile track record also the rist, 3r., which holds the mile track record for middle weight cars. The records made by Mr. Christie with his 120 horse-power direct drive racer were 28 seconds for the kilometer and 88 2-5 seconds for the mile. The world's record for the distances are 21 2-5 seconds for the kilometer made by Baras at Ostend, Belgium, and 24 2-5 seconds for the mile, made by Arthur McDonald at Ormond Charles and the form of the miles of Beach, last January. Chevrolet will leave for Cape May some time this week, taking with him both Fiat cars so their he will have ample time to tune have determined on a man to succeed Mike Murphy, who resigned his berth in New Haven to go to the University of Pennsylvania. The man appointed is John J. Maok, who for several seasons has been training the athletes at Mercersburg Academy. Mack will take up his duties at Yale when the fall term begins. George Foster Sanford, Steve Farrell, Pouch Donovan and others had been mentioned as likely men to succeed Murphy, but Mack was a dark horse. Mack coached the Columbia track athletes in 1899 and for two seasons previous to that. Through the influence of Jack Moakley, the Cornell trainer, he went to Mercersburg and since going there has had considerable succeess in turning out proficient athletes. Risley, the jumper, and MacGoffin, the Cornell runner, are two. of his pupils.

There has been talk at Yale of having one man to handle the football candidates and another for the track candidates, but it is understood that nobody else will be appointed just now. Mack, who halls from Chelsea, Mass., and is an old professional sprinter, said to have done even time for the hundred, is not without knowledge of football. He was at Columbia when Sanford was coaching the Riue and White in the gridiren game.
